I'm an Italian enamored with the Paris of the East, Budapest, where I live. During my first 50 years, I expressed my creative and entrepreneurial abilities nationally and internationally in different areas: mentoring and personal growth, political strategy and communication, event management, online trend and community development, graphics/photography, and marketing.

About the private sessions

With each mentoring session, we share a journey through the chapters of the book:

“IO - How to win at the game of life”.

“

Life is the biggest match we will ever play: we can win or lose depending on the quality of our game.

- Luigino Bottega

The book is a collection of thoughts and experiences assembled into a useful formula for those who, armed with curiosity, wish to discover new perspectives for their personal growth.

A simple and practical formula that guides us towards deep introspection.

The main intention is to inspire the reader to open inner doors and walk through them, attracted by the light they emit: a light that radiates from places to explore, daunting at times, but also useful to induce a strong desire for discovery, creativity, and personal fulfilment.

THE JOURNEY TOWARDS TRUTH

Endorsements and Testimonials

"This book is truly amazing. It can show a complete system, how we can lead our life successfully. I love the formulas in it because they can be used in the different fields of my life. I am so lucky that personally I could learn from the author and I can tell, he is a credible, extremely creative and wise person, who can help us to become better and more successful in the game of life."

Brigitta Békési

Founder, CEO at Beautyrobic

"This book, more than a manual of wisdom, I take it as a call to a mission of courage. It is a strong message to encourage the reader to throw the heart beyond the obstacle ... It is the guide to get out of our hamster cage. It is a book addressed to the less aware to invite them to reflect and to those who are "ready": ready to accept some form of change. Since these are thoughts, and therefore full of subjective ideas, he leaves it to each of us to place the objection where we see fit, but it certainly cannot pass into silence..."

Alessandro Farina

Owner, ITL Group

"This book has the extraordinary virtue of being a "manual" that guides the reader, step by step, towards the discovery or rediscovery of his/her own value and innate ability to Become, in a continuum with no boundaries, other than those of one's own curiosity. An instrument to read and observe, like those children's books in which the images assist in learning how to read, and therefore how to write."

Marco Veronese

Artist, poet and free thinker

"With passion and creativity, Luigino approaches the meaning of life by creating an exceptional experience for the reader. The positive thinking reflected in the book contributes to the understanding of life harmony, for our world of complex social interconnections. The success of the book will be the success of life."

Michele Orzan

President, EuCham - European Chamber

"From the very first page, the reader will be drawn into the world of the author, who shares their thoughts through metaphors and story telling. Even the illustrations throughout the book are drawn as though written by the author himself, who attempts to share how they have won at the game of life. However, this book is more than a guide on how to win at the game of life. Rather, it is a man's eloquent journey on finding happiness, by going within."

Barbara Rubel

Keynote Speaker, Trainer, Author, Consultant

"More than a book, this is rather a manual on how to best approach life: inspiring, powerful and easy to understand, through its creative illustrations. This reading does not give you the solution to a happy life, however it provides many great tips to find your own solution to a fulfilling one."

Andrea Sartori

Global Head of Sports at KPMG

"The book has a fascinating combination of Art, Philosophy and a practical approach to life. It is very fluent and easy to read. Very structured but also very deep. Congratulation to the writer on his creativity and his ability to describe his chain of thoughts so well. I see many connections between the book and our methodology. The concept of looking at life as a game, the importance of awareness, the approach to patterns and more. I warmly recommend any person, that wants to develop and extend his vision on the world and on himself, to read the book and reflect."

Ehud Shachar

Ceo - Accelium Group

"I would like to recommend everyone to read Luigino's first book, Win the game of life! I have to admit that I found it very useful for my personal growth, and mainly I found it very well written and very well disposed all the arguments and examples that Luigino has in a very ordered and meticulous manner exposed."

President at EU-Chambers
